DIVE INTO THE PEOPLE RUNNING TO BE YOUR PRESIDENT

Photo my mom took of me. Pretty sure it's on her Facebook. Cropped out my cousins.

Author's Description

CONGRESSWOMAN REBECCA M. FURMAN

Rebecca Monica Furman is a senior member of The Fortis Times editor department. Furman graduated from WhatsApp University in June of 2016 with a masters in Anthropology. After graduating Furman travelled to Fortis where she interned at The Fortis Times. She traveled to many third-world countries to teach young children how to write. In 2018 Furman received an award from the World Together organization for her altruism. In November of 2019, Furman was elected as a member of congress where she serves today. She also was a key speaker on the Pinderson and Bergman administration corruption and voted for their imprisonment. Congresswoman Furman in devoted to sharing correct, and easily accessible information to the citizens of Fortis and would like to change the font of the logo of The Fortis Times as she finds it is illegible. Also, her birthday is in a month so please remember to wish her Happy Birthday.

Early Election this Year

WHAT HAPPENED?

Elections for the president will be coming earlier than expected. President Ricardo Bergman was impeached in late 2019 after being found guilty of charges including: Treason, Criminal Conspiracy, Aiding and Abetting Terrorists, Aiding and Abetting Drug Dealers, and Misappropriation of Funds as well as being involved with Executive Pinderson who was found guilty on similar charges. President Bergman is currently in a maximum-security federal prison with no bail awaiting court proceedings where his sentence will be decided. Now Prime Minister Modi is temporarily filling the position as president congress still decided to fast track elections this year. Surprisingly, the prime minister decided to throw her hat in to the race. Although in the past years of Modi being prime minister we haven't heard, or seen a lots of the prime minister but now that she is fully in charge of the executive branch people really have to see what she has to show as a candidate.

Unfortunately, as opposed to the other two candidates, I was not given the chance to sit down with the prime minister to talk about her candidacy. We hope sometime in the future to sit down with her. Modi has been on the front scenes for many operations and especially in this time when she is head of the executive branch. She was a main face of the Pinderson/Bergman administration and scandal. Modi also recently signed a peace agreement with bordering nations ensuring good and peaceful relations with them. She also secured fund support deals with Sweden, United States, China, and Canada. These funds are vital to the Fortisan economy. After the scandal in late December of last, taxes have been gradually decreasing and has had financial experts concerned for the economy and what will happen next. For now this is the most important information about the Prime minister. Please be sure to sign up for our newsletter for daily breffings.

MEET DZHEVEIRA T. KARIMOVA

MEET IRENE NGUYEN

Meet Dzheveira T. Karimova

Presidential Candidate

REBECCA FURMAN

Congresswoman Dzheveira Karimova was born and raised in the poor city of Fortis, Hightstown City. Since an early age Congresswoman Karimova has been devoted to politics. In 2003 she cofounded The Rise of the Youth Association which brings together youth across the nation to educate and inspire them. After graduating from National Fortis Law School with her JD she began working with non-profit organizations such as The Bergen Project, CARE, and UNICEF. In 2017 successfully led for the passing of the Education for All bill to supply funding to the Hightstown City Public School system. In 2018 Congresswoman Karimova was elected as a representative of the Federal Chamber of Fortis where she advocates for controlling and eliminating corruption in the government. She assisted the charges against the Pinderson and Bergman administration. She also led the legislation of The Human Voting Rights Act.

The Human Voting Rights Act was passed to ensure that all voting procedures in Fortis were than of a direct democratic approach. Congresswoman Karimova expressed to me how important equal rights were to her. Congresswoman Karimova promises to: prioritize citizen's voice in the affairs of the government, ensure access to quality healthcare for all, ensure access to all levels of quality education, stabilize trade and international affairs with neighboring countries, develop and technological innovation of Fortis, and bring Fortis back to the top of the world economy. It is important to her that political schematic corruption within the Fortis Chambers and courts to a complete end. She believes Fortis deserves a stable government and a prosperous economy that meets the needs of all.

Congresswoman Karimova took my team, and I on a tour of the Hightstown City Public High School. It clearly showed the major improvement in quality of education in one of Fortis's poorest cities. Students were in a fully air conditioned building with protection around the building by guards, using up-to-date technology. Each student is given either an iPad or MacBook to use for school and take home for the entire school year as well as using the newest textbooks. Although these improvements seem very impressive Congresswoman Karimova believes this is the standard that all schools should be held to. To finish this off I'd like to say a big thank you to Congresswoman Karimova for providing my team with munchkins.

Presidential Candidate

REBECCA FURMAN

Congresswoman Irene Nguyen was born and raised as a first generation Fortisan. Her parents immigrated from Vietnam when they just married and had Congresswoman Nguyen 3 years later. Congresswoman Nguyen grew up in a middle-class family in Silver City. Silver City is populated by many middle-class immigrant families and has an average education system. Congresswoman Nguyen graduated from the National University of Fortis with a master's in international Affairs: International Economic Relations. From an early age Congresswoman Nguyen has been passionate about the wellbeing of the environment. She realized the most prominent issue in the world is the environment. She believes it's important to stand up now and make a change before it's too late. She said "it's not something that can just be done in a couple years, but something that needs to be preserved and continued through the generations. Nguyen created the Climate Action Now act which requires all sitting presidents to annually plan for Fortis to tackle climate change. She is currently fighting and advocating for more legislations to be passed. After graduating from NUF she spent several years working at the Center for Immigration Studies. Congresswoman Nguyen also took my team and I on a tour of the Environment Conservation Organization. She previously passed legislation that supplied funding for the organization. The ECO for years was struggling to stay afloat as many climate change deniers have attacked, blacklisted, and discredited the organization in the past to prevent research to be released to the public. Now the center has funding to research all around the world, protect the organization from attacks, and provide the public with accurate up-to-date information about the environment and what they can do to help. Nguyen in the future promises to bring forward legislations to protect the environment, prevent overflows of waste, and implement environmental studies in the Fortis school system.
